

Uniform Specifications Marin Medical Reserve Corps

The Marin Medical Reserve Corps volunteers have established a uniform while participating in MMRC events. The wearing of uniforms by unit volunteers serves several purposes:

- Clearly identifies volunteers as official members of the Marin Medical Reserve Corps.
- Provides unit volunteers with durable work or appropriate dress garments.
- Enhances esprit de corps of unit volunteers and facilitates a professional appearance.
- Establishes a “visual link” between the Marin Medical Reserve Corps and any other agency participating in an event.

The official Marin Medical Reserve Corps uniforms are divided into the following tiers:

Class A – Dress Uniform worn when formal attire appropriate

Class B - Battle Dress Uniform (BDU) can be worn at community events or training

Class C – Work Uniform – can be worn at meetings or training sessions

Uniform of the Day at MMRC events shall be determined by Program Manager.

Team members shall wear MMRC Uniform only at Corps sponsored events. If an establishment sells alcohol and food, members may wear MMRC uniforms if their activities in the establishment center on eating. At no time should MMRC volunteers be observed drinking alcohol or be in establishments that primarily sell alcohol.

It is required that ID Badges be worn while conducting any business at MMRC Office.

Class A – Dress Uniform

Marin Medical Reserve Corps volunteers shall wear their Dress Uniform when as determined by the Program Manager. Specifications for the Dress Uniform are to be determined

Class B – Battle Dress Uniform (BDU)

Marin Medical Reserve Corps volunteers shall purchase Khaki Battle Dress Uniforms (BDUs). Current Vendor for MMRC uniforms is Galls Uniform Company in San Francisco. BDU uniforms, name tape, reversed American flag, U.S. MRC Tape, medical caduceus and Marin Medical Reserve Corps patch can be purchased on-line at Galls.
